FOOD, AGRICULTURE AND BIOFUELS SEGMENT TEAMS

Faegre & Benson represents many of the world's leading food, agriculture and biofuels companies. We have more than 100 attorneys dedicated to serving companies in these industries. To better serve the specialized needs of our food, agriculture and biofuels clients, our lawyers are organized in industry segment teams.

These teams monitor the economic, business and legal trends in the segment. By staying current with market trends in their segment, our lawyers are able to quickly understand and address the unique needs of clients in these segments.

In addition, our lawyers are members of industry-related associations. We are participating members of CropLife America, the American Meat Institute, the American Seed Trade Association, the National Grain & Feed Association, the Agricultural Retailers Association, the International Dairy Foods Association, and the International Foodservice Manufacturers Association.
